SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1863.

Let Us Ponder.

Now is the time for sober reflection. There are many who are disgusted with mere political management, and are ready to fly from party standards, to the glorious stars and stripes, in the great battle for a free home.

These lovers of the soil that gave them birth—from which they draw their food and subsistence—as also their dear brothers who have made choice of this free land as their home, and who, as freemen from election, are equally as devoted to their adopted country as if they were "natives to the manor born,' are not disposed to continue to be longer captivated by the syren song of mere partisans; but will resist to the death, in the field and at the polls, the enemies of their dearly cherished land.

If men, no matter under what specious, party flag, are plotting with our enemies, red with the blood of our dear fathers, brothers and sons, and have no words of denunciation against our kinsmen's murderers, but on the contrary, pour only invectives against the patriots fighting for our cause, to what other conclusion can sober minded men arrive at than that these sympathisers with the rebellion are as much our mortal foes as their brethren in hostile array against us in the South. If these men, the VALLANDIGHAMS and WOODWARDS, are really engaged in the plot to subvert the liberties of our country, every true and loyal voter ought to be found in array against them to the bitter end.

Of course no patriot can, with a full understanding of the tendency of this Northern treason, vote at the ensuing election for any one embarked in it. Its triumph at the polls would, perhaps, be fatal to the successful prosecution of the war.

Let us then maturely consider the present condition of things, and let us cast our votes solely with a view to our country's good, and forego all party considerations.

If we vote, as God in his goodness would lead us to think right and patriotic, we will perform our whole duty, and forever have reason to be proud of what we have done!!

The Lieutenants of Jeff Davis.

The election is fast approaching—the battle will soon be fought and won, in favor of the Union or of JEFF DAVIS'S confederacy, of freedom or slavery, of civilization or of barbarism. Disguise it as politicians may, struggle to cover it up as they will, these and these alone are the issues involved in the coming election. No matter by what name our oponents may be known—they may call themselves Democrats, and we may call them copperheads—the fact is that WOODWARD and LOWRIE are no less lieutenants of JEFF DAVIS than are LEE, LONGSTREET, BEAUREGARD, BRAGG, PRICE and POLK; and the rank and file who follow the lead of the two first of this half dozen worthies, are as much doing battle on the side of the slave-holders' rebellion as are those who follow the lead of the four last. In Europe and in Dixie alike, the enemies of the Union are looking forward to a copperhead victory, in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and New York, at the approaching elections in those States, as more effectual for the overthrow of our nation than all the battles that have been fought since the war began. They avow this openly, boldly, persistently, and the copperheads have not one word to say against it, no denial indignant or mild to give it.

It is true the copperheads pretend that they are in favor of the Constitution as it is, and the Union as it was. But the pretence is a sham and a lie, and they very well know it. "Give us the offices," say they, "and we will make peace with the rebels, allure them back into the Union, and then we will all live together again in harmony and friendship." They that say this, say it to deceive the ignorant and nothing else, because they know, as every intelligent man from the Atlantic to the Pacific knows, that the thing is simply impossible. The rebels have told them over and over again, and are still telling them in every newspaper they issue, and that with every epithet and form of expression that can give it force, and with an earnestness that proves clear as the noonday sun that their whole hearts are in what they say, that they will make peace on no terms but an absolute, unconditional acknowledgment of their independence by the Federal government, with the Potomac and the Ohio for their northern boundary. And they know, moreover, as every intelligent man in the loyal States as well as the disloyal, knows,—because the rebels have never concealed the fact, but have always spoken it out freely, openly and above board—that while they, the rebels, cannot but respect the loyalists for the reason that they have the courage to assert their principles, and fight and die for them, they can look upon the copperheads as nothing but a pack of dishonest knaves and cowardly poltroons, who have no principles to assert, and if they had, are too pusillanimous to assert them. The only way we could permit these stinking rascals to come near us, say they, would be by holding tight our noses.

Doubtless many among the rank and file of the copperheads are at heart Union men, who have only ranged themselves on the side of JEFF DAVIS because their leaders in whom they have been accustomed to place confidence, have imposed upon and deceived them. But this does not mend the matter. At the election such men are just as dangerous as the very heartiest disloyalits. Every vote polled by them will count as much against the Union, and do as much to win a rebel victory as will the vote of a WOOD or a VALLANDIGHAM, a WOODWARD or a LOWRIE. These men may be reached, their eyes may be opened to the villainly of their leaders, and they may be brought to range themselves on the side of their country. But as we started out by saying, the election is at hand, the time to work is short, will not our friends improve it with all diligence, so that every loyal voter may be induced to place in the ballot box a loyal vote when he goes to the polls?

NEW AUTOMATONS.—The St. Paul Pioneer says: "It has long been the boast of Europeans that the highest degree of mechanism such as is required for designing and manufacturing automata' has never been found outside of France or Germany. This can no longer be said; for a gentleman of this city has produced, after three and a-half years of close application, some of the most wonderful automata the world has ever seen. They consist of six figures, full size of life, three of each sex, dressed in the height of fashion, and so closely resembling living persons as to deceive all but the closest observers. These figures appear on the stage each with a harperion, and, at a sign given by the leader, they salute the audience and commence playing. They perform a large number of melodies, keeping perfect time, and producing full harmony. This is, without doubt, one of the finest specimens of mechanibal ingenuity the world has ever seen."

Major Gen. Sickles is on a visit to Washington, and on Tuesday had an interview with the Secretary of War. He yet walks with crutches, his wound not being sufficiently healed to permit the use of an artificial leg.

The Bench and the Stump.

GEORGE W. WOODWARD, through his platform and his stump speeches, teaches that the suspension of the habeas corpus act is unconstitutional. But what said GEORGE W. WOODWARD himself, when ten years ago the famous SHARPLESS case was before that Court. Here is what he says that martial law does. 9 Harris, page 174.

"In adequate emergencies, martial law suspends the habeas corpus, inflicts summary punishments, and appropriates private property, WITHOUT REGARD TO THE GUARANTIES OF THE CONSTITUTION. Inter arma silent leges."

Now, however, martial law is unconstitutional; the suspension of the habeas corpus is unconstitutional; the draft is unconstitutional; war taxes are unconstitutional; employing negroes to fight is unconstitutional; employing white men to fight is unconstitutional; everything except eating dirt and humble pie, are unconstitutional. Alas! alas, for the spectacles through which WOODWARD looks. The patriarchial and levitical institution of human Slavery is the only incalculable blessing left us.

Justice Woodward's Disloyalty.

The Post keeps standing in its columns Judge WOODWARD'S letter about a man of straw called Judge HALL. This has called out the Hon. L. TODD, who now gives several bona fide men of flesh and blood. As the Judge entered the list to knock over the man of straw, he of course will try a tilt with men of blood, bone and muscle:

"At the meeting referred to I contended that Judge Woodward was a Secessionist, and that I could prove it by his published declarations, his political associations, and by the reports of his conversations with individuals. I then quoted from his speech of the 13th of December, 1860, and showed that its sentiments never had been changed, modified, or repented of. I referred to the conduct and platform of the Convention which nominated him, as exhibiting bitter hostility to the Government, and evident sympathy with the traitor VALLANDIGHAM, who had proclaimed friendship for the rebels, and unmeasured denunciation of the war were widely known; and also is the fact that Judge WOODWARD'S most prominent supporters, and the recognized leaders of the party, were WM. B. REED, C. INGERSOLL, FRANK HUGHES, and others, who had distinuguished themselves by acts of disloyalty, and made themselves infamous by treasonable propositions.

"I further stated that I had been informed, upon most respectable authority, by citizens of my own town, that Judge WOODWARD, in a conversation with Hon. H. B. WRIGHT, had defended the constitutionality of the doctrine of secession, and denied the power and authority of the General Government to coerce a State into obedience to its obligations under the Constitution; that Judge HALL had expressed himself as being shocked at the sentiments avowed by Judge WOODWARD in a conversation on the subject; and that Judge LORIN, who knew him intimately, whilst recently on a visit to Carlisle, had characterized Judge WOODWARD as a disciple of the extreme CALHOUN school of politics, and by far a more dangerous man than VALLANDIGHAM himself.

"From these data I argued that Judge WOODWARD was a Secessionist, and unworthy the support of loyal men, and that his elevation to office at this perilous crisis in our affairs would be most disastrous.

"The public will judge whether a denial extorted at this late hour, under the pressure of impending defeat, and with the hope of warding off the just indignation of the loyal people of the State, will avail to counteract the just and legitimate effect of opinions and principles heretofore published, and which Judge WOODWARD does not, even now, disavow, and of associations with men who are notoriously disloyal, and practically in active co-operation with the enemies of the Government."

A CHAPTER ABOUT BELLE BOYD.—It is well kown that this woman is now imprisoned in the Old Capitol, having been arrested at her home, in Martinsburg, Va., soon after the retreat of Lee through and from that place. The reason for her arrest is, that she violated the conditions of her former release by being within the Federal lines. She was under obligations to leave her home with the rebels, when the rebel army left it; but this she failed to do, and is now justly suffering for the violation of her plighted faith. The reports recently sent North by Washington correspondents, that her health was being seriously impaired by her imprisonment, we learn, is wholly without foundation in fact. From her peculiar temperament, it would seem that there are few persons who are more largely gifted with the power of keeping themselves company.

Perhaps there is no Southern woman who has gained more noteriety during this war than has Belle Boyd. Traitors and sympathizers with traitors have surrounded her name with a romantic heroism almost equal to that of Joan of Arc. Mahony was in the Old Capitol at the time of her first imprisonment, and in his villainous book (The Prisoner of State) he denounces the Government for visiting what he terms indignities upon this "charming" and "heroic" lady, and says she was desparately loved by all the "gallant;" and that, after being sent South, she had accepted and married a dashing young officer. Of course, this was all false. She is still Belle Boyd, Mahony and his book to the contrary, notwithstanding.

There is nothing especially prepossessing about the person of this young lady. She evidently courts noteriety—is dashing—and would apparently rather appear fast than otherwise, though where she is best known she is regarded as a virtuous young lady.

The statement sent to the New York papers some time since that she had been an inmate of a house of ill-repute in Philadelphia, we are assured, does her character great injustice. She has not been in that city, but was impersonated by a woman on Twelfth street, who, assuming her name and claiming to be a rebel spy, attracted a bevy of young copperheads about her, and illustrated through them the old adage, "Fools and their money soon part." The counterfeit Belle was a much better looking woman, lacking, however, the intelligence and vivacity of the original. When Belle was in the Old Capital before, "My Maryland" was her favorite song, but now she scarcely ever sings it, she says it is "played out." She is an incessant singer of rebel songs, however, and is a most implacable hater of the Government. Her past history proves that she lacks not the inclination, and to a large extent is possessed of the spirit, to dare almost anything to aid the rebellion.—Washington Republican.

A PARAGRAPH FOR LITTLE GIRLS.—The Wheeling Intelligencer says: "Every little miss who will look up the word 'Housewife' in Webster's Dictionary will find the name and description of a little article that, to the soldiers in the field, is extremely acceptable. One of the public schools in Pittsburgh sent a box of them to the Christian Commission, and the youthful donors have been blessed for the gift by as many soldiers as there were 'housewives' to give them. The article is simply a receptacle for buttons, thread, pins, needles, tape, &c. Odds and ends of the work-bag furnish the material, though oiled muslin or other water-proof stuff is better. The moment the box reached the field, 'Do give me one, sir,' was the word until the last one was gone. The Government would economize by issuing them to the soldiers, that they might mend their own clothes, but the school-girls must do it instead. If the girls of the public and private schools would set at once to work they could earn the gratitude of every soldier that their presents reach."

HOW TO LOOK PRETTY IN A PICTURE.—The great defect of photograph portraits is the stern appearance of the subject, giving the impression that the sitter was very cross at having to sit at all for a likeness. This is caused by the necessity of having to keep an immovable countenance during the operation, and the consequent endeavor to prevent any play of the features. A very simple, but effective contrivance has been adopted to overcome this difficulty. A large mirror, mounted on a movable stand, is wheeled to the side of the camera, and the sitter is enabled to "see himself as others see him." The effect is instantaneous on every sitter. The stern scowl suddenly changes to a pleasant smile, and when that desirable object is attained, the operator suddenly fixes the impression on the plate. The improvement is very great, but so simple that every one wonders why it was not thought of before.

FROM WESTMORELAND COUNTY.

Large Union Meeting at Ligonier--Stirring Speeches of John Covode and Ex-gonernor Johnston--Youngstown -- Patriotism of Alex. Johnston, Esq.--Statement of Mr. Bell.

LIGONIER, WESTMORELAND CO., September 30, 1863.

EDS. COMMERCIAL: I have had a most eventful and happy day. The great cause of constitutional liberty and the Union has been given an impetus in this valley that will tell with stunning force on the 13th proximo.

In the beautiful sunshine of a clear and bright morning your correspondent placed himself (unknown to all others) in the way of progress from Latrobe to the old fort, (the first erected west of the Allegheny Mountains, and called after Lord Ligonier, of the British Cabinet.) This old post was the resting place of General Forbes and of Colonel Bouquet, and was the oasis in the desert of woods and wilderness of the emigrant settlers who first peopled Westere Pennsylvania. It is beautifully situated on the the banks of the Loyalhanna river, surrounded by the magnificent mountain scenery of the Chestnut Ridge and Laurel Hill.

Arrived at Ligonier, we found assembled a large crowd of citizens—old farmers, sturdy mechanics—women and children, to the number of seven or eight hundred. After a most excellent dinner, the people organized by the appointment of John Bell, Esq., an old and venerated gentleman, (who had been a member of the Convention to revise our Constitution) as President, and many old and excellent citizens, and refined Democrats, as Vice Presidents. The speaking commenced at 2 o'clock, p. m., and was continued until 6 o'clock, there being no evidence of weariness or lack of interest among the audience. Col. Sherwood (a refugee from Texas, driven from his home after the sacrifice of all his property, for the reason that he was a Union man) enchained the people for two hours by the truthful recital of the miseries and sufferings of the loyal men in the South. His simple and unvarnished statements of wrongs filled the breast of every hearer with indignation at the great outrages of slavery and of slavery's lords; and brought the tear to the eye of many a loyal man and woman. The blush of shame came to the cheek of rebel sympathizers at their recitals.

Ex-Governor Johnston in referring to Woodward's speech about foreigners—said he would not rely on it, as Mr. Woodward had denied its utterance, he would refer only to the resolution he I offered. Mr. Bell, the President of the meeting, interupted the speaker and stated that he was present—heard the speech and that it was a falsehood, mean and contemptible for Woodward to deny it.

The Hon. John Covode, though a candidate for the nomination in the Convention that nominated Gov. Curtin, appeared before his old neighbors, admirers and friends, and made a speech so full of warmth for truth, justice, the country, and the nominee of our party, that has seldom been equalled and certainly not excelled in power, pathos and force, by any effort made during the campaign. We heard several men of the opposition party say, that his facts and arguments were unanswerable. Following this great effort, and your correspondent speaks without hyperbole, the good speech of the occasion was made by our old Westmorelander, Ex-Gov. Johnston. We have heard him on many occasions, and although others have elicited our cheers by appeals to passion and feeling, we have never heard so sound a speech, in such choice words and condensed sentences, as delivered by the old champion of popular rights—free labor and determined patriotism. The people would not let him quit, and shouted they remembered his stirring appeal against the election of James Buchanan, and how faithful and true, as events have recorded, his words of warning are now felt. When he mentioned the fact that the citizens of Allegheny had been the first to detect the treasonable designs of Buchanan's Cabinet, and thus prevent the stripping of the Allegheny Arsenal, three times three were given for the banner county.

When he referred to the refusal of Vallandigham to vote supplies to our soldiers, and the endorsement of his action and southern views by Woodward, Hopkins and Hughes, the judicial, the priestly and legal triumvirate of political knavery, the old mountains re-echoed the cheers. We have not heard for years such a telling speech. Many old Democrats came to the stand and stated that unless their party renounced their present position and went in for the war to the bitter end and the absolute overthrow of the rebellion, they could vote with it no longer. At 7 o'clock the meeting adjourned with cheers for Curtin, the soldier's friend; Agnew, the upright judge and the country, its Union and Constitution forever.

The speakers thence proceeded on their return to Youngstown. The venerable Alexander Johnston, now upwards of ninety years old, requested us to partake of his hospitality, a good supper and something else good (which shall be nameless) cheered us on our way. I shall never forget the parting words of this old Irish gentlemen. "I cannot," said he, "My dear friends do much to aid and cheer the establishment of the Constitution. I am old and weak; but may God crown and bless your every effort to maintain this benificent and pure government under which we have flourished and grown great for upwards of three quarters of a century." I am an old Democrat, John Covode, but never a man to repudiate debts or surrender for a moment the supremacy and power of the National Government.

Arriving at Youngstown a large crowd met us. All the speakers were spirited and telling—so much so that the copperheads cheered for Jeff. Davis and Vallandigham, being satisfied that the smaller fry, Woodward, Reed, Hughes, etc., were so entirey used up by the exposition of their hypocrisy that an appeal to outside and unknown rebel sympathisers was the only outlet left for the expression of their hatred of republican institutions. Indeed, we observed one fellow bellowing that Vallandigham was right in refusing supplies to our volunteers; but his mouth was stopped by the "corn stealers" of a loyal citizen who stood beside him and accidentally put his "pickers" in his mouth.

Messrs. Covode and Sherwood left to attend the meeting to-morrow at Adamsburg and Jacksonville. Westmoreland is all right; put down a very small, if any, majority in this staunch old Jackson county for treason and rebellion.

Do you know why the Union paper in this country is so cold and lukewarm. It may be necessary to start in this region a new organ that possesses life and soul.

I enclose you a list of forty names, who want your paper daily for six months.

Make it spirited as usual and these substantial people can be relied on for subscribers. VIATOR.

LOCALLY INTERESTING.—It was reported that among the slain at the battle of Gettysburg was a gallant young soldier named George Simons, of the 114th Regiment P. V. It was also stated that he was so badly mutilated that his remains could scarcely be recognized. The father, mother, and sisters of young Simons were consequently thrown into deep grief. On Friday, however, they received a letter from him, dated College Green Barracks, Annapolis, Md., September 24th. Instead of being killed, he, with others, was taken prisoner on the 2d of July, reached Richmond on the 21st of that month, and was sent to Bell Island, where he remained a prisoner until the 21st of the present month. He says there is a mighty difference between Uncle Sam's feeding the soldiers and the Johnny Rebs.

During his imprisonment the prisoners received only two meals each day, as follows: One ounce of meat and nine ounces of bread for breakfast, at nine o'clock in the morning; at half past three o'clock in the afternoon the prisoners received nine ounces of bread and a pint of soup—sometimes beans or rice. He says some of the prisoners got fat on such living, but many died on the Island. Three prisoners were shot by the rebels; one of them being a young man named Bradly, who belonged to the 91st Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers.

An officer, who was inspecting his company one morning, spied one private whose shirt was sadly begrimed. "Patrick O'Flynn!" called out the captain. "Here, yer honor?" promptly responded Patrick, with his hand to his cap. "How long do you wear a shirt?" thundered the officer. "Twenty-eight inches" was the rejoinder.

OUR PHILADELPHIA LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1st, 1863.

Special Correspondence of the Daily Commercial.

A telegraphed you on this morning that the Secretary of War had issued orders to Surgeons in charge of hospitals throughout the State to furlough all convalescents for thirty days—that is, residents of the State, passing by the way of their Pennsylvania fatherland on Eleventh street, this afternoon. I saw the result of the order. Several hundred of Uncle Sam's boys were standing and reclining along the sidewalks waiting for transportation to various parts of the State. "What's all this meant" said I to one of two of them. "Going to reinforce Rosecrans" Several gave a loud laugh, and one called out, "gone to join the reformed Andy Cabinet." This remark seemed to please the crowd, and the result was a most vehement demonstration of applause. As I passed around it was soon manifest that a most salutary effect in a large class of people, who after hearing a little of a solemn truth, inevitably be dimzed to a determined spirit, which sees peace only with the restoration of the Union.

There has been, to a certain extent, a lack of knowledge on the part of several Assessors with regard to their powers and duties in the extra assessment which is now being made. This is not at all strange under the circumstances, as it is rather a new thing to have military and political affairs so prominent as the same time as now. Many of the Assessors were obliged to exercise a sound discretion as to the quality of articles to be assessed, and that discretion raised—like to the application and questions put to the Court of Common Pleas and asked for instructions. The Court, after listening for nearly two days, this morning gave their decision, which was perfectly unanimous. After it was over Noble went to the Continental, but the crowd dissolved in the hurry them out once more, so they got up a serenade, and completed them both to appear on the balcony from which pleased and bowed their acknowledgements. The scene was one of the most exciting ever witnessed in this city, and the compliment in stirring speeches.

The sad death of Mr. Grund will injure the Democratic party in this city, and more particularly in the 5th ward, where he resided. He was a leading member of the Democratic Executive Committee, and was universally esteemed by his colleagues. His funeral will take place on Sunday next, from his late residence, No. 1020 Spruce street, and will be largely attended by the Democracy.

The Philadelphia Fair is now in full blast, and the receipts are immense. The Fair is a success in every respect, and the ladies who have it in charge deserve the highest praise for their untiring efforts to make it so. The Fair will close on Saturday evening next.

The Democracy of this city are now in the midst of a political campaign, and the Democratic papers are making the most of it. ☞ The Excelsior Ominibus Company have Omnibusses and Carriages in waiting for passengers arriving in trains from both East and West.

THE passengers by the Philadelphia train that arrived here on Thursday evening, took a vote on the pending election with the following result: Curtin, 365; Woodward, 3; Citizens of other States, and neutral, 32.

Recovered.—We were pleased to meet on our streets yesterday, B. C. Sawyer, sr., Esq., who has been ill for some time in the East and has just returned home. Mr. Sawyer is now in good health, and bids fair to live to a good old age.

Transferred.—Dr. C. K. Winne, who has been for some time past connected with this post as Medical Purveyor, has been transferred to the Army of the Potomac, and Major Wright Reeves, of Gen. Copeland's staff, who is at present acting as Judge Advocate of the court martial in this city, has been transferred to General Hooker's staff.

Inspector of Cavalry.—Gen. Stahl has appointed Lieutenant Colonel R. F. Monson, of the Twenty-first Pennsylvania, Inspector of Cavalry in the Department of the Susquehanna. Colonel Monson has had a large experience in the cavalry service, and is said to be in every way qualified for the discharge of the duties of the position to which he has been assigned.

Malicious Mischief.—Night before last Jacob Miller was arrested and taken before his honor, Mayor Sawyer, charged with malicious mischief, in driving his horse and wagon against the wagon of John Carr, injuring Carr's horse and wagon, and driving over a boy by the name of James McEvoy, seriously injuring him. Miller was held to answer.

Reception of Hamill.—We understand that the friends of the champion oarsman, James Hamill, intend to give him a public reception at the depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad this afternoon. Mr. Hamill will be accompanied by his trainer, Johnny Mackey, who will divide the honor of the proposed reception. We are assured by those who are well informed that Mackey nobly performed his duty to Hamill, and a handsome purse was raised for him after the defeat of Ward in New York.

A FEW days ago an order was received by the surgeon at the Western Pennsylvania hospital, in the 9th ward, to furlough all the convalescing soldiers for twenty days. This was done in order that those brave defenders of our country's flag should have an opportunity to go home, be assessed, and vote at the election. Before separating, we understand an informal vote was taken among them, showing that out of about two hundred, Curtin had nine-tenths—Woodward the balance. Who says the soldiers are not loyal?

A Bold Robbery.—On last Tuesday night some bold thief or thieves went to the stable of Mr. G. W. Kent, at Marysville, Union county, Ohio, and having stolen a span of fine large brown horses and a wagon, they proceeded to the store of Messrs. Brown & Campbell, in the same place, from which they abstracted from $600 to $700 worth of goods and left. The direction which they took was unknown, but as it was supposed that they might carry out their bold programme by steering for Pittsburgh, a handbill describing the horses and wagon was sent to his honor Mayor Sawyer, who will take steps for their arrest should they come this way.

Ogden's Lamp Establishment.

We were never more surprised in our diurnal trip through the city, than by a glance we had at the lamp manufactory, yesterday, of Messrs. W. N. Ogden & Co., No. 64 Market Street. Mr. Ogden occupies a large three-storied building, of some hundred feet depth. The first floor is occupied principally as a wholesale warerooom, and is also handsomely fitted up as a sample room. On entering the establishment one is particularly struck with the elegance, beauty and number of variegated lamps displayed upon the ample shelves of the warerooom. Mr. Ogden, being a gentleman of taste, and having an eye to the wants of his fellow citizens, has been exceedingly attentive to the requirements of the public. His variety of parlor and fancy lamps, for ingenuity of manufacture and beauty of design, will excel anything of a similar nature it has ever been our pleasure to notice.

Mr. Ogden has continually in store a stock of lamps of the most useful and fanciful kind, but that of which we desire to more particularly speak is that denominated a Tritten's Burner." It possesses the singular qualification of being inextinguishable in the severest draft of wind, the tenacity of the burner to preserve the flame excelling anything that has yet been discovered. For a family or kitchen lamp the "Tritten Burner" has no equal, and as Mr. Ogden has the sole agency for the manufacture and sale of the same, our readers will know where to call for it. We cannot too strongly commend this lamp to the public, as, from what we have seen of it, we are satisfied that it possesses just such qualifications as the people have long desired.

On the first floor is displayed a large variety of lamp shades, of the most elegant design. We were also shown some beautiful silver glass reflectors, the intensity of the light of which exceeds almost the brilliancy of the great luminary, and are peculiarly well adapted to the wants of oil refineries, hotels, &c. A very neat conductor's lamp, of very convenient size, and suitable for people residing in the country, was also shown us, and we unhesitatingly pronounce it just the thing for which it was designed.

But we cannot dwell on the elegant display of the first floor, and must briefly refer to the other features of this very tasteful establishment. The second floor is used as a packing room, where several men are continually employed in boxing the orders of merchants from the surrounding States. The third floor is used as a finishing room, and a number of young women and others are kept constantly employed in putting on the finishing touches to the fancy parlor lamps. In both of these departments the best of order is preserved, as the great amount of labor to be performed requires it.

In concluding this rather brief notice of observing our establishment, we would state that wholesale merchants wanting a supply of the most useful lamps will find them at Messrs Ogden & Co's. Their trade the past year will average ten thousand dollars a month, which is a sufficient evidence that their wares and terms are properly appreciated. There is no variety of lamps from the common thumb lamp to the most elegant chandelier that cannot be found at Messrs Ogden & Co's., and in such variety and quantity as cannot fail to please the taste of the most fastidious. We commend this lamp store to the attention of the public, as it is really deserving.

Death of Maj. Sees.—Major O. W. Sees, Chief of Transportation and Telegraphing, under the State Government, died at seven o'clock Thursday morning, at Harrisburg, after several weeks illness, in the 28th year of his age. Major Sees was a worthy young man, and leaves behind him many relatives and attached friends to mourn his early death.

Assault and Battery.—Geo. Massey was before his Honor Mayor Sawyer last night, charged with assault and battery on oath of John Fox. He was held to bail. Kate Judge, was also arrested on oath of Elizabeth Braitweisser, charged with the same offense. She was bound over to answer.

Handsome Swords.—We were shown yesterday three very handsome navy swords, ordered through Mr. H. Richardson, Fifth and Market streets, by John Murray, pilot of the flagship "Benton." The swords are beautiful in manufacture and handsomely chased with appropriate nautical designs, and cost some thirty dollars each. They are really elegant specimens of workmanship.

A Straw.—We are informed that on the mail train on the Allegheny Valley Railroad yesterday morning, a vote was taken for Governor, which resulted as follows: Curtin, seventy-five; Woodward, eleven. "Straws show which way the wind blows" is an old and truthful saying, and we are confident that the indications of Curtin's election by upwards of fifty thousand majority are unmistakable.

Serious Accident.—Capt. Reed, chief of Gen. Brooks' staff, and Capt. T. Trent Swearingen, Assistant Adjutant General of the Department of the Monongahela, while returning from East Liberty on Thursday night, were thrown from a buggy, and seriously injured. Capt. Swearingen is very severely injured, but not dangerously. Capt. Reed is but slightly injured.

Franz Sigel Coming.

We are informed by a dispatch from Wayne M'Veagh, Esq., Chairman of the State Committee, that the hero of Pea Ridge, Franz Sigel, will positively speak in this city on Thursday next, 8th inst. Gen. Sigel will be accompanied by Gov. Noble, of Wisconsin, a loyal and patriotic officer. We call upon people to give the German hero an enthusiastic reception, as his eminent services in the cause of his adopted country entitle him to it.

The Sixty-First Regiment and Curtin.

We are in receipt of the proceedings of a Curtin Union meeting held by the members of the Sixty-first Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, in camp at Culpepper Court House, September 28th. We would gladly publish them did our space permit, and are much obliged to our correspondent for his kindness in forwarding us the same. Suffice it to say that the resolutions breathe a spirit of patriotism throughout, and declare the unalterable devotion of the soldiers to the cause of the Union. The soldiers ask their friends at home to vote for Andrew G. Curtin, their friend and patron.

The New York Regatta.

Joseph Bash, one of the best scullers on Western waters, arrived home yesterday from New York. Ma Bash participated in the Grand Regatta of Wednesday, and was, we are informed, a good second, being beaten by Gil. Ward, brother of Joshua, some two lengths in a five mile race. So well satisfied were our Pittsburghers, who witnessed the race, that Bash could beat Ward, that they raised a purse of three hundred dollars on the spot, and wished the men to go for that sum, but Ward's friends did not come up, and the proposed match fell through.

Burglary in Blair County.—The house of Aaron Bever, of Antis township, was entered one night last week and robbed of several articles. The robbers entered the wash house and took clothing from clothing, boots, shoes and peaches. They then entered the parlor by removing the strips from the window, which enabled them to hoist the sash. From the centre table they took a new cover, valuable books and two albums, with several pictures of members of the family, and those of friends, which cannot be replaced, and that money could not have bought. They must be old offenders, as their work had been accomplished so noiselessly that none of the family were awakened by their presence.

Destructive Fire.

Yesterday morning, about half-past one o'clock, a fire was discovered in the straw-house attached to the Glass Works of T. A. Evans & Co., in the Ninth Ward, which, notwithstanding it was raining heavily at the time, rapidly communicated with the main building, which, together with its contents, were entirely destroyed. The loss, as nearly as can be ascertained, will be between eight and nine thousand dollars, on which there was no insurance. The most serious loss is in pots, of which some forty or fifty were destroyed, some of them eighteen months old. Their books and papers, which were in the safe in the office, were saved, in a damaged condition. A number of boys and young men were seen shortly before the fire, lurking about the premises, and they were without doubt the authors of the disaster. Workmen are busily engaged in getting out the moulds from the ruins, and it is probable that the only damage done them will be the burning of their handles. Had there been a good steamer in the Ninth Ward, it is probable the flames could have been checked before doing so much damage.

The Campaign.

GERMAN UNION MEETING—A mass meeting of our German fellow citizens was held last evening at the house of Gotlieb Faas, Allegheny, at which Capt. Casper Gang presided, assisted by Gotlieb Faas, S. Hastings, Thos. Cutter and E. Faulhauber as Vice Presidents. R. C. Francis and A. N. Burchfield acted as Secretaries. The meeting, which was very enthusiastic, was addressed at great length by H. C. Mackrell, Esq., who made a very eloquent speech. A brass band enlivened the proceedings with appropriate music.

THE UNION CLUB NO. 1 held a very large and enthusiastic meeting at Wilkins Hall last night, at which J. H. Sewall, Esq., presided. The first speaker was Hon. Green Adams, of Kentucky, who made a truly able speech. At the close of his remarks, the audience honored him with three cheers. Professor Hageman, of New York, succeeded, and delighted the audience with a very spirited address. The proceedings were very enthusiastic and harmonious.

MEETING IN THE EIGHTH WARD.—A very large and enthusiastic meeting of the friends of Curtin and the Union was held in the Eighth ward last evening. The following officers were chosen:—President, John M. Killin; Vice Presidents, Lieut. W. J. Patterson, Jos. Snowden, C. H. Beurman, John H. Sawyer, John Allen, Edward Dithridge, John Glass, Jos. Nixon, J. J. Tellhofe, Jos. Casher, Enoch Normicut; Secretaries, John A. Sergeant, E. M'C. Still.

Able and patriotic addresses were delivered by Messrs. Little, B. F. Lucas, M. A. Woodward and John H. Sawyer.

Union Demonstration in Clinton.

A grand demonstration of the friends of Curtin and the Union was held at Clinton, on the 1st inst. Delegations from all the surrounding townships, and from Washington and Beaver counties were in attendance, and the procession when fully formed was fully three miles in length. Beautiful flags and banners bearing appropriate and patriotic mottos were displayed all along the line, and several bands, consisting of "ear-piercing fifes and spirit-stirring drums," enlivened the people with excellent music. A large and spacious stand had been erected, and was beautifully and tastefully decorated with evergreens, flags and banners.

The meeting was organized by electing Capt. John Young, of Robinson township, as President, John McDonald, Marshal Short, John McCluskey, John Hood, J. W. Stewart, Matthew Bailey, Hugh Barton, Jas. H. McNall, George Shelito, William Livingston, John Christy, and James McCutcheon, Vice Presidents; and Thomas Nicholson, H. Elliott McBride, Wm. Erwin, Matthew Hall, and Thos. M. Starrett, as Secretaries.

The first speaker was Dr. McCook, who made an eloquent speech, and was greeted throughout with shouts of applause. He was followed by J. W. F. White, Wm. H. Denniston, and Mr. Cameron, all of whom made able and eloquent addresses. Between the speeches, the "Clinton Glee Club" sung some beautiful and patriotic songs. The immense multitude seemed to be particularly pleased with the "Battle Cry of Freedom," which was exceedingly well performed. Altogether it was one of the grandest demonstrations Western Pennsylvania has ever witnessed, and betokened the determination of the people of Washington, Allegheny and Beaver counties to roll up a glorious majority for Curtin and Agnew on the second Tuesday of October.

The Grand Meeting at Uniontown.

The meeting at Uniontown on Monday promises to be one of the greatest Union demonstrations that has yet taken place in Western Pennsylvania. The Committee of Arrangements have left nothing undone to make the meeting one of the largest and most enthusiastic of the campaign, and we can confidentially assert from our knowledge of the men composing the Committee that there will be a grand time. A special train from this city, on the Connellsville road, has been chartered to convey visitors to the meeting, and judging from the number that have already signified their intention of attending, we would not be surprised if the accommodations were insufficient. The delegation for Uniontown will meet at Wilkins Hall at seven o'clock, at which time the procession will start for the depot, from which the train will positively leave at eight o'clock. Hon. Green Adams and Professor Hegeman will accompany the delegation. The Committee have also secured the services of a brass band, and everything that can conduce to the comfort and pleasure of the delegates will be attended to.

A Soldier's Home.

The Subsistence Committee have procured a large room above the one they now occupy as a Dining Room, No. 347 Liberty street, opposite the Pennsylvania depot. It is the design of the Committee to fit up this room as a place where soldiers, who may be compelled to remain from one train to another, or detained over night, can get, besides their meals, a comfortable place to sleep free of all expense. It is the intention of the Committee to have these rooms open at the arrival of all trains, both day and night.

The rooms will be open next week, due notice of which will be given to the public. In order to meet the increased expense of these rooms, the Committee ask our citizens for aid. Contributions can be given to any of the Committee, or left at Messrs. Wernan & Son's, on Smithfield street, or Geo. Albrod, Son & Bro., Wood street.

Soldiers' Right to Vote.

The copperhead newspapers are very much opposed to the soldiers voting. They say that soldiers have no right to vote, and quote the law on the subject as follows:

"No body of our troops in the army of the United States, or of this Commonwealth, shall be present, either armed or unarmed, at any place of election within this Commonwealth during the time of such election." They are careful not to add the proviso attached to the above clause as follows: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent any officer or soldier from exercising the right of suffrage in the election district to which he may belong, if otherwise qualified according to law.

Officers Arrived.—Officers Gumbert, Strain and Scott arrived yesterday from New York, whither they had gone ostensibly for the purpose of attending the race between Hamill and Ward, but in reality for the purpose of spotting some celebrated thieves and pickpockets who have extended their operations through the West. While there they had the satisfaction of "pulling" several celebrated Pittsburgh thieves, and they also recovered from a New York thief a watch stolen from a Pittsburgh gentleman, who was in attendance on the race. Their visit has been every way satisfactory to themselves, and they have accomplished much of what they intended when they left.

Meeting at Wilkins Hall.—We are directed to notify the friends of Curtin and the Union, that Hon. Green Adams, of Kentucky, and Professor Hageman, of New York, will address them this evening, at Wilkins' Hall. These gentlemen were rapturously received last night, and we bespeak for them the same large and enthusiastic audience.

Amusements To-Night.

MISS HERON'S BENEFIT.—Miss Heron will take a farewell benefit at the theatre to-night, on which occasion she will appear in her great character of "Nancy Sykes," and as "Julians," in the Honeymoon. Such an attractive bill has not been presented to our play-goers this season, and it cannot help but crowd the building from parquette to dome.

MASONIC HALL.—The Wizard, Anderson, continues to attract by his performances large and delighted audiences to Masonic Hall. His feats are really wonderful, and excite his audiences to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

THE GHOST.—A rehearsal of this great optical illusion was had the other evening, and those who were privileged to be present pronounced it the greatest dramatic treat of the age.

Grape Exhibition.—Mr. Knox will exhibit at his Horticultural Rooms, No. 29 Fifth street, on Wednesday, October 7th, and during the balance of the week, a rare collection of native Grapes, embracing over twenty varieties of the newest and most valuable kinds. We doubt if this Exhibition will attract great attention. It will afford parties wishing to engage in grape culture a fine opportunity to see the different kinds, and to determine which are the best, either for wine or the table.

A competent committee will be appointed to examine the fruit, both at the Rooms and at the extensive vineyards of Mr. Knox, whose report will be looked for with great interest.

Our second supply of new goods, silk shawls, now opening at Pratt's, 21 Fifth street.

Vocal Music.—H. D. Brecht, teacher of Singing and Cultivation of the Voice, 12 Smithfield street.

THE following is the last Monthly Statement of the Pittsburgh Banks, compared with the August statement:

	September.	August.

Loans and Discounts	6,715,211	6,469,581
Specie	1,396,067	1,361,323

Deposits	4,621,643	4,636,695
Due to other Banks	145,208	194,235

This shows an increase in loans and discounts of $245,630; in specie, $1,744, and a slight decrease in deposits, $14,459.

The discounts at the different houses this week has been quite large, and at rates favorable to the borrower. No difficulty is experienced now in obtaining money on good short time paper, and outside operations are frequently successful at rates far below the customary figures, and when good collaterals are given, the money is obtained as low as six per cent.

Gold is yet unsettled at the New York boards. This morning's telegram reports it opening at 42¾, advancing to 44, declining to 42½, and closing quiet at 42¾. Governments were firm.

The semi-annual interest paid yesterday in New York on the 7-30 per cent bonds of the government now swells the semi-annual interest payments of $4 65 to $5 25 per cent, or $10 50 per annum, instead of 7-30. The interest on the Five-Twenty years 6 per cent bonds will be payable on the 1st of November, one month distant, also in gold, which, if the premium should be no greater than at present, will realize a semi-annual dividend in currency equal to 8 per cent per annum.

In presence of the large export of gold it is interesting to know that our national production of the precious metals is increasing. The United States Assay Office is receiving weekly deposits of gold from various mines in Colorado, the principal of which have been steadily improving during the past year. In the last report of the Quartz Hill Company, the weekly yield is stated at $850 in gold, or about $1,200 in currency, at a cost of $396 25.

The exports for the week have been larger than for any previous week for two months. The following will show the exports (exclusive of specie) from New York to foreign ports for the week ending September 28, and since January 1,:

	1861.	1863.
For the week	$3,042,333	$ 3,870,409

Since Jan. 1	$97,057,241	$106,710,336
	$130,752,996

The exports of domestic produce for the week include 68,305 bbls wheat flour, 4,570 bbls corn meal, 371,527 bush wheat, 7,092 bush rye, 750 bush oats, 44,612 bush corn, 1,102 pkgs candles, 25 tons coal, 140 bales cotton.

The Richmond Whig of Sept. 29th quotes Virginia coupon bonds at $425@485, according to the number of coupons. Virginia registered bonds are quoted at $185@190 and interest.

The statement of the Boston banks shows an increase of $1,137,353 in loans and discounts, $111,748 in specie, $16,210 in circulation, and a decrease of $13,674 in deposits.

The New York Post's Washington correspondent says that Mr. Chase will not call for another loan of $50,000,000 this season—certainly not until after the meeting of Congress.

The Government subscription agent at Philadelphia, reports the sale of $1,101,650 Five-Twenties, on Wednesday. This was the heaviest sale for two months, and indicates renewed interest in Government securities in all parts of the country.

The first statement of the First National Bank of New York was published yesterday, and is deemed highly favorable. The resources show:

U. S. Stocks, loans and discounts	$ 300,500
Due from other banks	200,000
Paid up Capital	2,000,000
Deposits	39,000

The bank has only been in operation sixty days, and will soon increase its capital stock.

PITTSBURGH GENERAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY COMMERCIAL, } Saturday, October 3. }

Business was not so active yesterday; buyers are holding off for lower figures. The weather was not very favorable for out door transactions, and this, no doubt, had a depressing effect. What we want just now is a rise in our rivers, in order that we might regulate our exports and imports, which have become sadly deranged on account of the inability of our railroads to do the business offered. Most of the leading articles are held at high figures, whilst the stock in first hands is being steadily reduced. Among the sales reported we note as follows:

APPLES—The market at present contains an ample supply, with more sellers than buyers, and is dull in consequence. We note sales of lots from store, comprising 30 bbls, at $1 50@1 75 bbl; a strictly prime article would command higher figures; receipts increasing.

FLOUR—Holders were very firm and buyers were holding off. The difficulty in procuring a supply—on account of our railroads being overburdened—will, no doubt, hold up prices for some time to come. The stock in market is not large. Among the sales we note as follows:

Extra—Sales 75 bbls at $5 25@5 40; 100 bbls on private terms.

Extra Family—Sales 130 bbls at $6 40@6 50; some holders were firm at the latter figure.

GRAIN—We continue to notice a firm market, prices have further advanced.

Wheat—Red finds ready purchasers at $1 10@1 12; sales 200 bush white at $1 25.

Corn—Scarce; holders at the depot were demanding $1 ₰ bush; buyers were shy; holders say they will have to come in.

Oats—Market firm at a further advance; dealers were demanding 75c, stock very light.

Barley—Nothing to oper

Sales included 3,500 bushels damaged to fair Southern Red at $1 25@$1 45; 4,000 bushels good to very choice do. at $1 50@$1 58, a lot of 1,500 bushels commanding the outside price; 5,000 bushels very inferior to fair Southern White at $1 30@$1 60, and 2,000 bushels good do. at $1 75@$1 80 ℔ bush. Molasses and Sugars.—No transactions reported. The stock of raw Sugars is nearly exhausted and prices tend upward.

Provisions—With the exception of jobbing lots of Bacon, no movement was reported under this head. Prices closed nominal as follows, viz: New Western Mess Pork at $14@$14 25, and old do. at $12 ℔ bbl. Bacon—Shoulders at 6¾ cents; Sides at 6¾@7 cents; plain Hams at 10@10¾ cents, and sugar cured and fancy do. at 13@14 cents ℔ lb. Bulk Meat—Shoulders and sides at 6 cents ℔ lb. No Hams. Lard—Western in bbls and tierces at 10½@11 cents, and refined at 13 cents ℔ lb.

Whisky—Sales reported of 300 bbls Ohio at 54 cts per gallon, an advance of ½ ct per gallon.

Chicago Markets.

The reaction in the gold market to-day caused prices generally to decline, and the Breadsuffs market was lower on nearly every article, with less disposition to operate. Buyers were anticipating lower rates for gold, and transactions to-day were confined mostly to filling orders.

The Flour market was less active, and under the less favorable advices from New York, prices suffered a decline of fully 5a10c ℔ bbl on the ruling prices of yesterday. There was a moderate business transacted, and quite a number of the sales were kept private.

The Wheat market met with a decline of 2c ℔ bus, with a fair business transacted at the decline. The market closed dull at the inside prices. The sales were at $1 10 for No. 2 Red; $1 06a1 07½ for No. 1 Spring; $1 02½a1 04½ for No. 2 Spring: 98ca$1 for Rejected Spring, and $1 for Rejected Red—all in store.

Corn declined 1½a2c ℔ bush, and closed quiet. The demand was moderate. The sales were at 72a72½c for No. 1, and 71a72c for No. 2 in store, closing at inside prices. Sales afloat were light, and prices were almost entirely nominal.

Oats were less active, and prices declined 1a1½c ℔ bush, with moderate sales at 51½a52c. for No. 1, and 50 cents for No. 2 in store—the market closing steady at the decline.

Rye was less active and the market was easier, closing ½c lower, with moderate sales at 84½a85c for No 1 in store.

Barley was steady, and yesterday's prices were well maintained, with sales at the whole range of $1 06c1 11 for No 2 in store, and $1 16a1 20 by sample, on track, the upper prices for prime.

Highwines were firmer, but less active, with sales at 50a50½c—holders generally asking 51c without finding buyers.

Injury to Corn and Tobacco in Kentucky.

Louisville papers say that the recent frosts have done considerable damage to crops in Kentucky, but have been more severe upon the growing corn than upon tobacco. The following letters throw some light upon the subject:

HODGENSVILLE, KY., Sept. 23, 1863.

I am pleased to be able to inform you that the late frosts have not done the amount of damage to the tobacco and corn crops of this (Larue) county that was first expected. I have made considerale inquiry, and find that the majority of prominent tobacco-raisers had their crops pretty well secured, and many others' crops are only partially injured. Some few thin crops are gone. I think there will be an over average crop of good tobacco in this county this season.

We cannot tell to what extent the corn is injured, but little of it is frosted; doubtless a considerable portion of it will be light and chaffy, owing to the freezing of the stock.

FREEDOM'S HOME, TRIMBLE CO., KY., September 23, 1863.

You ask for information in regard to damage done by the late frosts. In this county and the adjoining counties of Henry, Oldham and Carroll, the damage, I learn, has been very general to the corn crops, more so on the hills than elsewhere. In the river bottoms the heavy fogs have been a great protection from the frost, and the corn is little if any damaged. The same can be said of the tobacco crops, although perhaps not so generally damaged as the corn.

Another letter, dated near Chilesburg, September 23d, says:

The great frost of Saturday night last, I fear, has done immense injury. Considerable attention was given to tobacco in this section this year, and, as the season has been remarkably backward, the major part of it is totally ruined. The cornfields presented a beautiful green last week, but have now lost all their greenness, and look as if they had been scalded. The early corn may not be seriously injured, but all late must be badly damaged—not a green blade can be found. The mercury Sunday morning was 29 degrees—3 degrees below the freezing point. I had considerable quantities of peaches on the trees, and they are much injured by the frost.

During the past month a good demand has prevailed for all descriptions at an advance of 4@5c ℔ lb—market strong with an upward tendency. We quote Rio, ordinary at 20@20¼c; fair to good, 30@31c; prime 31½@32c; Laguayra, 30@33c.

Saint Louis Tobacco Market.

Market buoyant and prices on all grades have advanced largely, with break at both warehouses of 102 hhds—of which 93 hhds were sold, embracing 1 hhd stems at $3 25; 2 do scraps at $4 20@5; 8 do factory lugs $6 90@7 10; 18 do planters' lugs $7 10@10 90; 13 do common shipping leaf $11 60@14 50; 19 do medium do do $15 25@17 30; 18 do good and fine do $17 50@20 25; 11 do medium manufacturing leaf $21 50@29 25; 3 do good and fine do do $30 50@50; 9 hhds, bids rejected; 1 box $13 40.

Milwaukee Market.

Wheat—The market rallied again in the evening, about 36,000 bus changing hands at $1 03½ for No. 2, and $1 06½ for No. 1 spring in store, thus increasing the total sales of the day to more than two hundred thousand bushels.

The excitement in wheat absorbed so much attention on 'Change that other articles were neglected. The flour market was firm, but transactions were too limited to show the improvement, if any there was. Sales of a few hundred barrels country spring extra were reported at $5 20@5 25.

Oats were very firm, and generally held above the prices offered. Sales of a couple thousand bushels were reported on 'Change at 41½@42c for No. 1 in store. No sales of corn reported. Barley firm and without quotable change. Rye in request at 82c.

The advance in gold makes wool firmer, but there is not enough selling here to establish quotations. A sale of 3,800 lbs full blood merino was reported at 63½c. This is the highest price of the season paid in this market.

WILLIAM N. OGDEN & CO.,
No. 64 Market street, Pittsburgh, Pa.,
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR TRITTIN'S IMPROVED PORTABLE NO CHIMNEY BURNERS.

Patented Eighth Month August, 19th, 2862, and March 31st, 1863.

THIS Lamp is offered to the public in great confidence that it is the best one of its kind now in the market.

It has been selected by the largest manufacturers of New York and New England, for manufacture, in preference to all others shown them, for its superiority of light,—facility of carrying about, and especially for its non-conducting principle, which renders it perfectly safe against the effects of heating.

It is simple in construction, and is afforded at very low prices. For a Kitchen and Chamber Lamp, for Workshops' and Vessels' use, it is economical and invaluable, and is rapidly superseding other lamps. The cheapness and almost universal use of Coal Oil, commends this lamp to all housekeepers.

Particular attention is called to its admirable adaptation to LANTERNS. A simple trial will show its great superiority in this respect over all other Burners.

Lamp dealers throughout the country will be able to supply the public with this useful Burner. oc3
